

How This Deck Works — UDL & MTSS

Universal supports built into every standard. One firm learning goal; flexible ways to reach it.

CORE PATH

The essential instruction every student receives.

SUPPORT OPTION

An optional scaffold that keeps the goal, not lowers it.

LANGUAGE SUPPORT

Vocabulary, pronunciation, and Spanish cognates for access.

RESPONSE CHOICE

Show learning by writing, saying/recording, or diagramming.

PROGRESS CHECK

A quick DOK-2/3 check to guide reteach or extend.

EXTENSION

A deeper challenge once the goal is met.

Options are available by design and support access without lowering the learning goal.

Supports work alongside — never in place of — required IEP or 504 accommodations.

How do you settle a continent — and who pays the price when you do?

ZOOM IN

Say it, see it, connect it — terms you need for this standard.

Homestead Act

say: HOHM-sted

ES: Ley de Homestead

An 1862 law that provided 160 acres of public land to settlers who agreed to live on and improve the land for five years, encouraging westward expansion.

Transcontinental Railroad

say: tranz-kon-tih-NEN-tul RAYL-rohd

ES: Ferrocarril Transcontinental

A continuous railroad line completed in 1869 that connected the eastern United States with the Pacific coast, revolutionizing transportation and commerce.

Westward Expansion

say: WEST-werd ek-SPAN-shun

ES: Expansión hacia el Oeste

The 19th-century movement of settlers, railroads, and U.S. authority across the continent toward the Pacific, encouraged by free land and new transportation.

In 1862, Congress offered 160 acres of free land to anyone who would farm it for five years.

ZOOM IN

US.01 · The Homestead Act (1862)

The Transcontinental Railroad (1869) cut a cross-country trip from months to days — and opened the West to settlement and extraction.

ZOOM IN

US.01 · The Transcontinental Railroad (1869)

Chinese laborers built much of the Central Pacific — doing the most dangerous work while facing open discrimination.

The same expansion forced relocations, broke treaties, and collapsed the buffalo herds Plains nations depended on.

The law itself shows the government's intent — read who it includes, and who it leaves out.

WHO

U.S. Congress (federal statute).

WHEN

1862, during the Civil War.

WHY

A law reveals the government's intent — ask who benefits and who is left out.

Homestead Act

U.S. Congress · May 20, 1862 (12 Stat. 392)

"Any person who is the head of a family, or who has arrived at the age of twenty-one years, and is a citizen of the United States... shall be entitled to enter one quarter section [160 acres] of unappropriated public lands."

National Archives

Pacific Railway Act

U.S. Congress · July 1, 1862 (12 Stat. 489)

"The United States shall extinguish as rapidly as may be the Indian titles to all lands falling under the operation of this act... There is hereby granted to the said company... every alternate section of public land, designated by odd numbers."

National Archives

At the end of each reading, a historian returns to three questions. Use them to analyze any event, policy, or decision in U.S. history.

Who benefited?

Who gained land, wealth, power, or protection from this event?

US.01:

Settlers who claimed 160-acre homesteads; railroad companies that received alternate-section land grants; eastern markets and manufacturers reached by the new rail lines.

Who bore the costs?

Who lost land, labor, freedom, or life — and who was silenced?

US.01:

Plains nations, who lost lands and treaty rights and whose buffalo herds collapsed; Chinese laborers, who did the most dangerous railroad work while facing wage discrimination and exclusion.

Who decided?

Which people, offices, or courts held the authority to make the choice?

US.01:

The U.S. Congress and the federal government, acting through the Homestead Act and the Pacific Railway Act of 1862.

Anchor: Homestead Act & Pacific Railway Act, 1862 (National Archives)

Trace one effect: the railroad → the buffalo → the people.

ZOOM IN

MODELED PROMPT

Trace ONE effect of the Transcontinental Railroad on American Indian nations.

CAUSE → EFFECT → CONSEQUENCE

CAUSE: The railroad cut directly through Plains hunting grounds (1869). → EFFECT: Settlers and hunters poured in and the buffalo herds collapsed. → CONSEQUENCE: Plains nations lost the food source their economy depended on and were pushed onto reservations.

TEACHER THINK-ALoud

Watch how I do it: I start with the policy (the cause), I underline the change it set in motion (the effect), then I push one step further to the human consequence. I do NOT stop at "railroad was built" — I ask "so what happened to people because of it?"

Then you try: Now you complete two more cause→effect chains on your own in the activity.

A hometown hero: George Jordan of Triune, Williamson County — the only Medal of Honor recipient from our county.

ZOOM IN

1878 Williamson County map (Tennessee State Library & Archives) locating Triune, Jordan's home community.

ZOOM IN

9th U.S. Cavalry NCOs, 1889 (Buffalo Soldiers)

- ★ George Jordan was born around 1847 in the Triune area of Williamson County, Tennessee.
- ★ He is the only Medal of Honor recipient from Williamson County.
- ★ He served with the 9th U.S. Cavalry (Buffalo Soldiers), earning the Medal of Honor for Fort Tularosa (1880) and Carrizo Canyon (1881), issued in 1890.

A homesteading family and a Lakota family in 1875 would most likely have described the Homestead Act in very different ways. Which statement best explains why?

- A The Homestead Act applied only to settlers and never affected American Indians in any way.
- B The same law that opened “free” land to settlers took that land away from American Indians who already lived on it.
- C Both families received 160 acres each under the law, so their views would have matched.
- D The law was written to benefit American Indians first and settlers second.

RESPONSE CHOICE — commit before advancing: write it, say/record it, or diagram it. Teacher reveal follows.

US.02

Federal Policies Toward American Indians

TN STANDARD

US.02 – Examine federal policies toward American Indians, including the movement to reservations, assimilation, boarding schools, and the Dawes Act.

I CAN

I can examine federal policies toward American Indians, including the movement to reservations, assimilation, boarding schools, and the Dawes Act.

Say it, see it, connect it — terms you need for this standard.

Reservation System

say: rez-er-VAY-shun SIS-tum

ES: Sistema de Reservaciones

Federal policy that confined Native American tribes to designated areas of land, often far from their ancestral territories, to control indigenous populations and open land for white settlement.

Assimilation

say: uh-sim-ih-LAY-shun

ES: Asimilación

Federal policy aimed at forcing Native Americans to abandon their traditional cultures and adopt European-American ways of life, including language, religion, and customs.

Dawes Act

say: DAWZ

ES: Ley Dawes

An 1887 law that divided tribal lands into individual allotments, aiming to break up reservations and assimilate Native Americans; it resulted in massive Native land loss.

After the Civil War, the federal government confined American Indian nations to reservations far smaller than their homelands.

Boarding schools like Carlisle pursued forced assimilation under the motto “Kill the Indian, save the man.”

The Dawes Act (1887) broke up tribal land — holdings fell from 138 million acres to 48 million by 1934.

The Dawes Act itself shows the government's intent — read what it did to communal land.

WHO

U.S. Congress (federal statute).

WHEN

February 8, 1887 (24 Stat. 388).

WHY

A law reveals intent — ask what it dismantled and who gained the “surplus” land.

Dawes General Allotment Act

U.S. Congress · Feb 8, 1887 (24 Stat. 388)

"...the President of the United States be authorized... to allot the lands in said reservation in severalty to any Indian located thereon in quantities as follows: To each head of a family, one-quarter of a section [160 acres]."

Library of Congress / Statutes at Large

Annual Report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs

Office of Indian Affairs · 1890

"The great object... is the disintegration of the tribes... and their absorption into the national life as American citizens."

HathiTrust / U.S. Government

A historian returns to three questions at the end of every reading. Use them to analyze this standard.

Who benefited?

Who gained land, wealth, power, or protection?

US.02:

White settlers who purchased “surplus” reservation land; railroads and speculators; the federal government advancing westward settlement.

Who bore the costs?

Who lost land, labor, freedom, or life — and who was silenced?

US.02:

American Indian nations, who lost 90 million acres, communal landholding, languages, and children taken to boarding schools — a documented cultural genocide.

Who decided?

Which people, offices, or courts held the authority?

US.02:

The U.S. Congress and the Office of Indian Affairs, acting through the Dawes Act and reservation/assimilation policy.

Anchor: Dawes General Allotment Act, 1887 (Statutes at Large)

Based on the excerpt, what was the most likely long-term effect of dividing tribal land “in severalty” under the Dawes Act?

A

It strengthened tribal governments and expanded reservation territory.

B

It returned ancestral homelands to tribal control.

C

It had no measurable effect on Native landholding.

D

It broke up communal tribal ownership and led to large-scale Native land loss.

RESPONSE CHOICE — commit before advancing: write it, say/record it, or diagram it. Teacher reveal follows.

US.03

Compromise of 1877, Jim Crow & Plessy v. Ferguson

TN STANDARD

US.03 – Explain the impact of the Compromise of 1877, including Jim Crow laws, lynching, disenfranchisement methods, the efforts of Benjamin “Pap” Singleton and the Exodusters, and the Plessy v. Ferguson decision.

I CAN

I can explain the impact of the Compromise of 1877, including Jim Crow laws, lynching, disenfranchisement, the Exodusters, and Plessy v. Ferguson.

Say it, see it, connect it — terms you need for this standard.

Compromise of 1877

say: KOM-pruh-myz

ES: Compromiso de 1877

An informal agreement resolving the disputed 1876 election: Rutherford B. Hayes became president in exchange for removing federal troops from the South, effectively ending Reconstruction.

Jim Crow Laws

say: jim kroh

ES: Leyes de Jim Crow

State and local laws enacted primarily in the South between 1877 and the 1960s that enforced racial segregation and denied African Americans their constitutional rights.

Disenfranchisement

say: dis-en-FRAN-chyz-ment

ES: Privación del Derecho al Voto

The systematic denial of voting rights through poll taxes, literacy tests, grandfather clauses, and violence, primarily targeting African American voters.

The Compromise of 1877 withdrew federal troops from the South — ending Reconstruction and its protections.

ZOOM IN

With protection gone, Southern states built Jim Crow — segregation, poll taxes, literacy tests, and lynching.

ZOOM IN

Pap Singleton led the Exodusters — thousands of Black Southerners who migrated to Kansas to escape Jim Crow terror.

ZOOM IN

Plessy v. Ferguson (1896) made “separate but equal” law — legitimizing segregation for nearly sixty years.

ZOOM IN

The Court's own words show the doctrine — read what “separate but equal” actually authorized.

WHO

The Supreme Court of the United States (7–1 majority, Justice Brown).

WHEN

May 18, 1896.

WHY

A ruling sets the law of the land — ask what it permitted and whom it left unprotected.

Plessy v. Ferguson (majority opinion)

Supreme Court of the United States · May 18, 1896 (163 U.S. 537)

"Laws permitting, and even requiring, [the] separation [of the races] in places where they are liable to be brought into contact do not necessarily imply the inferiority of either race..."

Library of Congress / U.S. Reports

Harlan dissent, Plessy v. Ferguson

Justice John Marshall Harlan · May 18, 1896

"Our Constitution is color-blind, and neither knows nor tolerates classes among citizens."

Library of Congress / U.S. Reports

A historian returns to three questions at the end of every reading. Use them to analyze this standard.

Who benefited?

Who gained land, wealth, power, or protection?

US.03:

White Democratic “Redeemer” governments in the South, who regained political control; the national parties that traded away Black civil rights for the presidency.

Who bore the costs?

Who lost land, labor, freedom, or life — and who was silenced?

US.03:

African Americans, who lost federal protection, the vote, and equal access — and faced lynching. Those who resisted, like the Exodusters, were forced to flee.

Who decided?

Which people, offices, or courts held the authority?

US.03:

The disputed 1876 electoral commission and party leaders (Compromise of 1877); Southern legislatures (Jim Crow laws); and the U.S. Supreme Court (Plessy).

Anchor: Plessy v. Ferguson, 1896 (U.S. Reports)

The Plessy majority reasoned that “separate” facilities did not make one race inferior. Which later argument most directly challenges that reasoning?

A

That segregation was acceptable as long as both facilities were physically identical.

B

That the Constitution explicitly required racial separation.

C

That state-enforced separation itself signals and enforces inequality, regardless of facility quality.

D

That African Americans had freely chosen separate facilities.

RESPONSE CHOICE — commit before advancing: write it, say/record it, or diagram it. Teacher reveal follows.

US.04

Gilded Age Politics and Economics

TN STANDARD

US.04 – Analyze the causes and consequences of Gilded Age politics and economics, including political machines, major scandals, civil service reform, and the economic differences between farmers, wage earners, and industrial capitalists.

I CAN

I can analyze the causes and consequences of Gilded Age politics and economics, including political machines, scandals, civil service reform, and economic inequality.

Say it, see it, connect it — terms you need for this standard.

Gilded Age

say: GIL-dud ayj

ES: Edad Dorada

The period from roughly 1870 to 1900 of rapid growth, industrialization, and extreme wealth inequality — named by Mark Twain to suggest a thin gold layer over deep social problems.

Political Machines

say: puh-LIT-ih-kul muh-SHEENZ

ES: Máquinas Políticas

Corrupt organizations that controlled city politics through patronage, bribery, and vote manipulation, often trading services to immigrants for political support.

Spoils System

say: spoylz SIS-tum

ES: Sistema de Botín

The practice of rewarding political supporters with government jobs regardless of qualifications — 'to the victor belong the spoils.'

Political machines like Boss Tweed's Tammany Hall ran cities through patronage — funneling millions in public funds.

ZOOM IN

Scandals ran deep: Crédit Mobilier and the spoils system — until Garfield's 1881 assassination forced reform.

ZOOM IN

The Pendleton Act (1883) began merit-based hiring; the Interstate Commerce Act (1887) began federal economic regulation.

Wealth concentrated at the top while farmers and wage earners struggled with debt, low pay, and danger.

ZOOM IN

A close observer named the era's corruption — read how power actually worked in the Gilded Age.

WHO

James Bryce, British observer of American government.

WHEN

1888 (The American Commonwealth).

WHY

An outside observer describes what insiders took for granted — ask what he says corrupted city government.

The American Commonwealth

James Bryce · 1888

"The Boss... has a fine sense of political values... He dispenses places, rewards the loyal, punishes the mutinous... The machine works because it feeds those who serve it."

HathiTrust / Public Domain

Pendleton Civil Service Reform Act

U.S. Congress · January 16, 1883 (22 Stat. 403)

"...appointments to the [classified] service... shall be made... from among those graded highest as the results of such competitive examinations."

Library of Congress / Statutes at Large

A historian returns to three questions at the end of every reading. Use them to analyze this standard.

Who benefited?

Who gained land, wealth, power, or protection?

US.04:

Political bosses and their machines; industrial capitalists who concentrated wealth; office-seekers rewarded by the spoils system.

Who bore the costs?

Who lost land, labor, freedom, or life — and who was silenced?

US.04:

Farmers facing falling prices and high rail rates; wage earners in dangerous, low-paid jobs; taxpayers whose funds were siphoned by machines.

Who decided?

Which people, offices, or courts held the authority?

US.04:

City machines and party bosses; the U.S. Congress, which passed the Pendleton Act (1883) and Interstate Commerce Act (1887).

Anchor: The American Commonwealth (Bryce, 1888) & Pendleton Act, 1883

How does Bryce's description of the political "Boss" help explain why the Pendleton Civil Service Reform Act was needed?

A

Both reveal a spoils system in which offices and contracts were handed out for political loyalty, which reformers tried to end.

B

Both praise the political machines as honest and efficient.

C

Both argue that government jobs should be sold to the highest bidder.

D

Both were written after the spoils system ended.

RESPONSE CHOICE — commit before advancing: write it, say/record it, or diagram it. Teacher reveal follows.

US.05

Inventions & Innovations of Business Leaders & Entrepreneurs

TN STANDARD

US.05 – Describe the changes in American life that resulted from the inventions and innovations of business leaders and entrepreneurs of the period, including Bell, Bessemer, Carnegie, Edison, Morgan, Rockefeller, Tesla, Vanderbilt, Madam C.J. Walker, and George Washington Carver.

I CAN

I can describe the changes in American life that resulted from the inventions and innovations of business leaders and entrepreneurs of the period.

Say it, see it, connect it — terms you need for this standard.

Robber Barons / Captains of Industry

say: ROB-er BAIR-unz

ES: Barones Ladrones / Capitanes de Industria

Wealthy late-1800s industrialists who built massive business empires; critics called them 'robber barons,' supporters 'captains of industry.'

Vertical Integration

say: VUR-tih-kul in-teh-GRAY-shun

ES: Integración Vertical

A business strategy where a company controls all stages of production, from raw materials to finished product — practiced by Andrew Carnegie in steel.

Horizontal Integration

say: hor-ih-ZON-tul in-teh-GRAY-shun

ES: Integración Horizontal

A business strategy where a company buys out competitors in the same industry to reduce competition and control prices — practiced by John D. Rockefeller in oil.

New inventions reshaped daily life: Bell's telephone, Edison's light and power, Tesla's AC, Bessemer's steel.

Industrial titans consolidated power: Carnegie (steel), Rockefeller (oil), Morgan (finance), Vanderbilt (rail).

ZOOM IN

African American entrepreneurs broke through: Madam C.J. Walker built a fortune; Carver transformed Southern farming.

ZOOM IN

Carnegie explained how the rich should use their wealth — read his “Gospel of Wealth.”

WHO

Andrew Carnegie, steel magnate.

WHEN

1889 (“Wealth,” North American Review).

WHY

A titan justifies his own fortune — ask what he claims the wealthy owe society, and what he leaves out about workers.

“Wealth” (The Gospel of Wealth)

Andrew Carnegie · June 1889

"The man who dies thus rich dies disgraced... This, then, is held to be the duty of the man of wealth: to consider all surplus revenues... as trust funds... to produce the most beneficial results for the community."

Public Domain / North American Review

The Freeman (on Madam C.J. Walker)

The Freeman (Indianapolis) · c. 1911

"Mrs. Walker... has built up a business... giving employment to hundreds of colored women... a monument to Negro thrift and enterprise."

Public Domain / Indianapolis Freeman

A historian returns to three questions at the end of every reading. Use them to analyze this standard.

Who benefited?

Who gained land, wealth, power, or protection?

US.05:

Industrialists who amassed fortunes; consumers gaining new technologies; entrepreneurs like Walker and Carver who created jobs and products.

Who bore the costs?

Who lost land, labor, freedom, or life — and who was silenced?

US.05:

Workers who faced dangerous conditions and low wages while owners consolidated monopolies; small competitors bought out or driven under.

Who decided?

Which people, offices, or courts held the authority?

US.05:

Private business leaders — Carnegie, Rockefeller, Morgan, Vanderbilt — and the inventors and entrepreneurs whose choices reshaped the economy.

Anchor: Carnegie, "Wealth" (Gospel of Wealth), 1889

A wealthy 1890s steel magnate funds free public libraries across the country instead of leaving his entire fortune to his heirs. Whose philosophy does this best reflect, and why?

A

Carnegie's philosophy, because it displays wealth publicly to impress others.

B

The opposite of Carnegie's view, because he insisted fortunes pass to children.

C

The opposite of Carnegie's view, because he opposed all charitable giving.

D

Carnegie's "Gospel of Wealth," because surplus wealth is used as a trust to benefit society.

RESPONSE CHOICE — commit before advancing: write it, say/record it, or diagram it. Teacher reveal follows.

US.06 Industrial Centers and Urbanization

TN STANDARD

US.06 – Locate major industrial centers, and describe how industrialization influenced the movement of people from rural to urban areas: Boston, Chicago, New York City, Pittsburgh, San Francisco.

I CAN

I can locate major industrial centers and describe how industrialization moved people from rural to urban areas.

Say it, see it, connect it — terms you need for this standard.

Urbanization

say: ur-bun-ih-ZAY-shun

ES: Urbanización

The rapid growth of cities due to industrialization and mass migration, transforming America from a predominantly rural to an urban society.

Granger Movement

say: GRAYN-jer MOOV-ment

ES: Movimiento Granger

A farmers' organization founded in 1867 that advocated railroad regulation and fought monopolistic practices that harmed farmers through high shipping rates.

Populism

say: POP-yuh-liz-um

ES: Populismo

An 1890s political movement of farmers and workers seeking railroad regulation, a graduated income tax, and free coinage of silver to combat economic inequality.

Industry clustered by geography: Pittsburgh steel, Chicago rail & meatpacking, NYC finance, Boston textiles, San Francisco Pacific trade.

ZOOM IN

ZOOM IN

Diagram 39, plate 14, shows by the entire areas of the circles the proportional magnitudes of the element of foreign birth at each census since 1850, and by the sectors into which each circle is divided the proportions of the

It appears that Germany is far in the lead, nearly 2,800,000 being credited to that country, Ireland having nearly 1,000,000, while Canada and England are credited with less than 1,000,000 each. The United Kingdom, including England, Scotland, Wales, and Ireland, have collectively a larger representation than any other country, while Russia, Italy, Poland, Austria, and Bohemia have as yet but a small representation.

and Newfoundland are found in the greatest strength in Massachusetts and Michigan. Those of the Scandinavian nations, including Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, are most strongly represented in Minnesota, next in Cities grew faster than they could cope — crowded tenements, poor sanitation, and new social problems.

A map is a primary source too — read where manufacturing wage earners concentrated in 1890.

WHO

Henry Gannett / U.S. Census Office.

WHEN

1898 (from the 1890 Eleventh Census).

WHY

A statistical map shows where industry pulled people — ask which regions drew workers and which were left behind.

Proportion of Wage Earners in Manufactures, 1890

Henry Gannett / U.S. Census Office · 1898

"[Statistical Atlas map] The darkest shading marks the industrial Northeast and Great Lakes — the manufacturing core drawing workers from farms and abroad."

Library of Congress, Geography & Map Division

How the Other Half Lives (on tenement crowding)

Jacob Riis · 1890

"In the tenements all the influences make for evil... The gap between the classes... is widening day by day."

Public Domain / Scribner's

A historian returns to three questions at the end of every reading. Use them to analyze this standard.

Who benefited?

Who gained land, wealth, power, or protection?

US.06:

Factory owners with a concentrated labor supply; cities that grew into commercial powers; workers who found steady wages.

Who bore the costs?

Who lost land, labor, freedom, or life — and who was silenced?

US.06:

Tenement dwellers in overcrowded, unsanitary housing; rural communities drained of population; workers exposed to industrial hazards.

Who decided?

Which people, offices, or courts held the authority?

US.06:

Industrialists choosing plant locations near coal, rail, and ports; and the market forces of wages and transportation that shaped where people moved.

Anchor: Wage-Earners Map, 1890 (LOC) & Riis, How the Other Half Lives, 1890

A folk saying held that immigrants came expecting “streets paved with gold,” only to find the streets unpaved — and that they were expected to pave them. What does this reveal about the immigrant experience?

A

Immigrants found immediate wealth and success.

B

Reality fell far short of expectations, and immigrants faced hard labor.

C

American cities were well-developed and welcoming.

D

Immigrants were given skilled professional jobs.

RESPONSE CHOICE — commit before advancing: write it, say/record it, or diagram it. Teacher reveal follows.

US.07

Immigration: Old vs. New Immigrants

TN STANDARD

US.07 – Describe the differences between “old” and “new” immigrants, analyze the assimilation process, and determine the impacts of increased migration on American society, including Ellis Island, Angel Island, push/pull factors, nativism, the Chinese Exclusion Act, and the Gentlemen’s Agreement.

I CAN

I can describe the differences between “old” and “new” immigrants, analyze assimilation, and determine the impacts of increased migration on American society.

Say it, see it, connect it — terms you need for this standard.

Old Immigrants

say: ohld IM-ih-grunts

ES: Viejos Inmigrantes

Immigrants who came primarily from Northern and Western Europe before 1880, often Protestant and more easily assimilated.

New Immigrants

say: noo IM-ih-grunts

ES: Nuevos Inmigrantes

Immigrants who came primarily from Southern and Eastern Europe and Asia after 1880, often Catholic, Jewish, or Orthodox, facing greater discrimination.

Ellis Island

say: EL-is EYE-lund

ES: Isla Ellis

The primary immigration processing station in New York Harbor from 1892 to 1954, where over 12 million immigrants — primarily Europeans — entered the United States.

“Old” immigrants came from Northern/Western Europe; “new” immigrants (1880-1920) came from Southern/Eastern Europe and Asia.

ZOOM IN

Ellis Island processed Europeans; Angel Island restricted Asians. Jane Addams's Hull House aided assimilation.

ZOOM IN

US.07 · Entry Points & Assimilation

Push factors (persecution, poverty) and pull factors (opportunity, freedom) drove the largest migration in U.S. history.

Nativism produced restriction: the Chinese Exclusion Act (1882) and the Gentlemen's Agreement (1907).

The first federal law to bar a nationality — read who the Chinese Exclusion Act shut out.

WHO

U.S. Congress (federal statute).

WHEN

May 6, 1882 (22 Stat. 58).

WHY

It was the first U.S. law to bar an entire nationality — ask whom it targeted and what precedent it set.

Chinese Exclusion Act

U.S. Congress · May 6, 1882 (22 Stat. 58)

"...the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States be, and the same is hereby, suspended... it shall not be lawful for any Chinese laborer to come... to remain within the United States."

National Archives

Twenty Years at Hull-House

Jane Addams · 1910

"We early found ourselves spending many hours in efforts to secure... justice for immigrants... whom the state had left unprotected."

Public Domain / Macmillan

A historian returns to three questions at the end of every reading. Use them to analyze this standard.

Who benefited?

Who gained land, wealth, power, or protection?

US.07:

Employers gaining cheap labor; the growing industrial economy; immigrants who found opportunity and religious freedom.

Who bore the costs?

Who lost land, labor, freedom, or life — and who was silenced?

US.07:

New immigrants facing discrimination, tenement poverty, and hostility; Chinese and Japanese immigrants barred by exclusion laws.

Who decided?

Which people, offices, or courts held the authority?

US.07:

The U.S. Congress (Chinese Exclusion Act, 1882) and the executive branch (Gentlemen's Agreement, 1907), driven by rising nativism.

Anchor: Chinese Exclusion Act, 1882 (National Archives) & Addams, Twenty Years at Hull-House

According to Jane Addams, what was the philosophy behind Hull-House?

A That different social classes depend on and can help each other.

B That wealthy people should live separately from immigrants.

C That immigrants should return to their home countries.

D That government should provide all social services.

RESPONSE CHOICE — commit before advancing: write it, say/record it, or diagram it. Teacher reveal follows.

Whose story the industrial era told — and who paid its costs

History Hack-authored synthesis grounded in this unit's sourced record — read across the standards, not around them.

American Indian Nations

Westward expansion and the railroad (US.01) crossed treaty lands; reservation, assimilation, boarding-school, and Dawes Act policy (US.02) cut tribal holdings from 138 to 48 million acres by 1934.

Chinese Laborers

Chinese workers built the most dangerous stretches of the Central Pacific (US.01) yet faced wage discrimination and, in 1882, the first federal law to bar a nationality — the Chinese Exclusion Act (US.07).

African Americans

The Compromise of 1877 ended Reconstruction's protections (US.03); the Exodusters fled to Kansas, and Madam C.J. Walker and George Washington Carver (US.05) built enterprise under Jim Crow.

New Immigrants & Reformers

Southern and Eastern European and Asian arrivals (US.07) met nativism and tenement poverty; reformers like Jane Addams at Hull-House organized mutual aid across classes.

Verified public-domain images and named Key-Figure entries for these histories are a pending content addition.

Matthews, Northrup & Co's Official Railroad Map of the United States, Dominion of Canada and Mexico

This is the full-color version of the black-and-white map on the workbook Geographer's Lens page for US.01. Source: Matthews, Northrup & Co. Matthews, Northrup & Co's Official Railroad Map of the United States, Dominion of Canada and Mexico Perfected to Date from Latest Authentic Sources. Buffalo, 1890. Map. Library of Congress Geography and Map Division, call number G3701.P3 1890 .M3. <https://www.loc.gov/item/gm71000843/>. Public Domain — No Known Restrictions on Publication

