

U.S. HISTORY HACK™

Unit Assessment Book

Unit 9 — The Civil Rights Movement (1954–1975) • Teacher Edition

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

Three parts: (1) Formative Checkpoints — a short check per standard for progress monitoring (MTSS); (2) Unit Summative — two parallel forms (A and B) for pre/post or retakes; (3) Teacher Answer Key + Item Analysis + Reteach.

All items are pulled from the History Hack question bank. Classroom-formative • pre-field-test (pre-calibration) — not a secure TCAP form. First administration is what calibrates these items.

Administering these forms is what generates the response data to CALIBRATE the pre-calibrated items — the first cycle of use closes the loop.

Keys and reteach live in this teacher book only — reproduce the student sections (formative + Form A/B) without the key section.

Contents

Part 1 — Formative Checkpoints (by standard)

A quick DOK-balanced check for each standard. Use for progress monitoring; reteach routing is in the Teacher Key.

US.78 — Brown v. Board of Education

1. What legal and social conditions led to the Brown v. Board case challenging "separate but equal" education? [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. The NAACP's systematic legal strategy and social science research showing segregation's harm to Black children
- B. A sudden change in public opinion supporting integration, but this oversimplifies the complex factors at work
- C. Congressional legislation requiring the Supreme Court to review segregation, but the historical record tells a more complex story
- D. Southern states voluntarily requesting federal review of their schools, although historical sources do not support this conclusion

2. How did the Supreme Court's decision in Brown v. Board overturn Plessy v. Ferguson? [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. It declared all forms of segregation unconstitutional immediately, yet the available evidence points to a different conclusion
- B. It ruled that "separate educational facilities are inherently unequal," rejecting the separate but equal doctrine for public education
- C. It upheld Plessy but made exceptions for public schools, despite the fact that multiple sources contradict this view
- D. It delegated the decision to individual states, which ignores key developments that shaped the outcome

US.79 — Civil Rights Advocates and Opponents

1. How did civil rights leaders like King, Malcolm X, Marshall, and Parks use different strategies to advance equality? [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. King used nonviolent protest, Malcolm X promoted Black nationalism, Marshall used legal challenges, and Parks became a symbol through individual resistance
- B. They all used identical nonviolent protest methods, despite the fact that multiple sources contradict this view, which does not align with the documented historical record
- C. They worked exclusively through congressional lobbying, but this oversimplifies the complex factors at work, though this interpretation lacks supporting historical evidence
- D. Each leader focused only on their local community, which does not align with the documented historical record and oversimplifies the complex factors at work during this period

2. What tactics did opponents like Bull Connor, Orval Faubus, and Strom Thurmond use to resist civil rights progress? [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. They primarily used peaceful political lobbying, but contemporary accounts suggest a different explanation
- B. Connor used police violence, Faubus defied federal courts with the National Guard, and Thurmond used Senate filibusters
- C. They focused exclusively on legal challenges in court, although historical sources do not support this conclusion
- D. They avoided public confrontation entirely, but the historical record tells a more complex story

US.80 — Significant Civil Rights Events

1. How did the Montgomery Bus Boycott establish nonviolent resistance as the primary civil rights strategy? [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. The 381-day boycott demonstrated Black economic power and organizational capability, proving sustained nonviolent action could achieve change
- B. It was a spontaneous one-day protest, which ignores key developments that shaped the outcome, but the historical evidence paints a more nuanced picture
- C. It relied primarily on legal challenges rather than direct action, which contradicts the primary source evidence from this era
- D. The boycott failed to achieve its goals, although historical sources do not support this conclusion, which contradicts the primary source evidence from this era

2. What role did Tennessee play in the Civil Rights Movement through events like the Nashville sit-ins and Clinton High School integration? [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Tennessee was not involved in the Civil Rights Movement, but this oversimplifies the complex factors at work and oversimplifies the complex factors at work during this period
- B. Tennessee provided key sites including the first integrated Southern high school, student-led sit-ins, Highlander training center, and Tent City voter resistance
- C. Tennessee only participated after the movement ended, but the historical record tells a more complex story, which does not align with the documented historical record
- D. Tennessee's role was limited to opposing civil rights, although this overlooks critical economic and social factors, and this view has been largely revised by modern historical research

US.81 — Civil and Voting Rights Legislation

1. How did the Civil Rights Act of 1964 end legal segregation and what enforcement mechanisms did it create? [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. It banned discrimination in public accommodations and employment while creating the EEOC to enforce these provisions
- B. It only addressed voting rights, which ignores key developments that shaped the outcome
- C. It relied entirely on state enforcement, which represents a common misconception about the period
- D. It addressed housing but not public accommodations, but contemporary accounts suggest a different explanation

2. What impact did the Voting Rights Act of 1965 have on Black political participation in the South? [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. It had minimal effect on voter registration, although this view has been largely discredited by scholars
- B. Black voter registration increased dramatically from 23% to 61% by 1969, transforming Southern politics
- C. It only affected Northern states, but this fails to account for the broader historical context
- D. Registration rates decreased after the Act passed, yet the available evidence points to a different conclusion

US.82 — American Indian, Chicano & Feminist Movements

1. How did the American Indian Movement, Chicano Movement, and Feminist Movement adopt civil rights strategies for their own causes? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. They adapted legal challenges, direct action protests, media strategies, and legislative campaigns used by the African American civil rights movement
- B. They rejected all civil rights tactics, but this oversimplifies the complex factors at work, which ignores significant political and cultural developments of the era
- C. They only used violent resistance, although this view has been largely discredited by scholars, though this interpretation lacks supporting historical evidence
- D. They worked exclusively through electoral politics, although this view has been largely discredited by scholars, but the historical evidence paints a more nuanced picture

2. What specific goals did leaders like Russell Means, Cesar Chavez, and Betty Friedan pursue for their communities? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. They all pursued identical goals, but this oversimplifies the complex factors at work, but the historical evidence paints a more nuanced picture
- B. Means sought tribal sovereignty and treaty rights, Chavez fought for farm worker labor rights, and Friedan demanded gender equality and an end to discrimination
- C. They focused exclusively on voting rights, but the historical record tells a more complex story when examined alongside the available primary and secondary sources
- D. They avoided political activism entirely, but the historical record tells a more complex story and fails to account for key developments in the broader context

Part 2 — Unit Summative • Form A

DIRECTIONS

Choose the best answer for each question. Classroom-formative • pre-field-test (pre-calibration) — not a secure TCAP form. First administration is what calibrates these items.

Name: _____ Class / Period: _____ Date: _____

1. Which statement best describes the long-term significance of Brown v. Board of Education for the civil rights movement? [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. It established a legal and moral foundation that activists used to challenge broader racial discrimination
- B. It immediately ended segregation in all public facilities across the South
- C. It persuaded most Southern whites to voluntarily accept school integration by 1960
- D. It gave the president unlimited power to enforce civil rights laws without congressional approval

2. A historian examining the NAACP's case-building strategy from the 1930s to 1954 would most likely conclude that the organization's lawyers — [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Relied largely on executive orders from sympathetic presidents
- B. Systematically challenged segregation at the graduate school level before targeting K-12 schools
- C. Focused exclusively on economic arguments rather than constitutional ones
- D. Sought a constitutional amendment rather than judicial rulings

3. Which factor most limited the immediate impact of the Brown v. Board of Education decision? [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. The ruling applied only to schools in border states, not the Deep South
- B. The federal government refused to recognize the Supreme Court's jurisdiction
- C. The vague 'all deliberate speed' enforcement language allowed Southern states to delay
- D. Congress passed legislation overriding the ruling within two years

4. How did Malcolm X's approach to civil rights differ from Martin Luther King Jr.'s? [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Both leaders agreed on every major strategy; their differences were only stylistic
- B. Malcolm X advocated self-defense and Black nationalism while King promoted nonviolence
- C. Malcolm X focused on rural sharecroppers while King focused on urban workers
- D. Malcolm X supported the Civil Rights Act of 1964 while King opposed it

5. The Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), founded in 1957, differed from the NAACP in that the SCLC — [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Limited its membership exclusively to college students and young professionals
- B. Sought integration through economic pressure on Northern corporations
- C. Organized grassroots mass protest campaigns using churches as its base
- D. Focused primarily on legal challenges in federal courts

6. Which of the following best explains why the SCLC selected Birmingham, Alabama, as a major protest target in 1963? [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Birmingham had the highest Black voter registration rate in the South
- B. The city had already agreed to integrate and SCLC wanted to affirm the agreement
- C. Birmingham was chosen because its mayor was a moderate Republican who opposed segregation
- D. It was known as one of the most violently segregated cities in America

7. When Freedom Riders were violently attacked in Anniston and Birmingham, Alabama in 1961, the Kennedy administration's initial response was to — [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Immediately send federal marshals to protect the riders
- B. Deploy the National Guard to Alabama to ensure safe passage
- C. Pressure CORE to suspend the rides to avoid an international embarrassment
- D. Arrest the local officials who allowed the violence

8. John Lewis, then-chairman of SNCC, gave a speech at the March on Washington that civil rights leaders pressured him to moderate. What did the original version of his speech indicate about SNCC's position? [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. SNCC had formally abandoned nonviolent civil disobedience in favor of armed community self-defense by 1963
- B. SNCC fully endorsed the Kennedy civil rights bill as written and called on Congress to pass it immediately
- C. SNCC had negotiated a merger with King's SCLC to present a unified organizational front to the Kennedy administration
- D. SNCC was growing impatient with the pace of change and was considering more confrontational tactics

9. Which statement best describes the role of television in the sit-in and Freedom Ride campaigns of 1960–1961? [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Televised images of peaceful protesters being attacked shocked Northern viewers and built sympathy for the civil rights movement
- B. Television coverage of the sit-ins persuaded most white Southerners to accept integration voluntarily
- C. Civil rights leaders deliberately avoided press cameras to prevent opponents from anticipating and countering their tactics
- D. Major television networks refused to air civil rights footage in order to protect revenue from Southern affiliate advertisers

10. How did the events in Selma, Alabama lead to the Voting Rights Act of 1965? [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. The success of the Albany Movement in Georgia pressured Congress to pass voting protections
- B. Federal courts in Selma issued injunctions that forced Congress to act on voting rights
- C. President Johnson personally led the Selma-to-Montgomery march, drawing national attention
- D. Bloody Sunday's televised violence shocked the nation and built overwhelming support for voting rights legislation

11. The Voting Rights Act of 1965 addressed voting discrimination primarily by — [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Eliminating literacy tests and authorizing federal oversight of elections in covered Southern states
- B. Establishing a national identification card system to prevent fraudulent voting
- C. Lowering the voting age to 18 in all states with large Black populations
- D. Granting citizenship to all African Americans not previously covered by the Fourteenth Amendment

12. The 'Bloody Sunday' attack on marchers at the Edmund Pettus Bridge in Selma, Alabama (March 1965) directly led to — [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. The Supreme Court ruling that police brutality during protests was unconstitutional
- B. President Johnson going before Congress to demand passage of the Voting Rights Act
- C. SNCC permanently abandoning nonviolent tactics in favor of armed self-defense
- D. President Johnson abandoning his support for voting rights legislation

13. How were the American Indian, Chicano, and Feminist movements related to the Civil Rights Movement? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. They drew inspiration from civil rights tactics and strategies
- B. They competed with the movement for federal resources
- C. They focused exclusively on regional rather than national issues
- D. They operated independently with no shared methods

14. How did the American Indian Movement (AIM) draw on the civil rights movement's tactics to advocate for Native American rights in the late 1960s and 1970s? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. AIM focused exclusively on litigation and legal challenges, following the NAACP's legal strategy without adopting direct action methods
- B. AIM adopted direct action tactics such as occupations and protests, most notably occupying Alcatraz Island and the town of Wounded Knee, to draw national attention to Native American grievances and treaty violations
- C. AIM partnered with the SCLC to coordinate joint demonstrations that combined African American and Native American civil rights demands
- D. AIM focused primarily on cultural preservation efforts, avoiding political confrontation to maintain good relations with the federal government

15. How did the Chicano Movement of the 1960s and 1970s combine labor rights and civil rights concerns in ways that reflected the experiences of Mexican American farmworkers? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. The Chicano Movement focused primarily on gaining citizenship rights for undocumented workers, rather than addressing the labor conditions of those already living in the United States
- B. The Chicano Movement succeeded in passing a federal agricultural labor law by 1965 that guaranteed collective bargaining rights for all farmworkers
- C. César Chávez and the United Farm Workers combined labor organizing with civil rights activism, using boycotts, strikes, and nonviolent tactics to demand fair wages, safe conditions, and dignity for Mexican American agricultural workers
- D. The Chicano Movement was primarily an urban phenomenon centered in Los Angeles, with little connection to the rural agricultural labor issues faced by Mexican Americans in the Southwest

Part 3 — Unit Summative • Form B

Choose the best answer for each question. Classroom-formative • pre-field-test (pre-calibration) — not a secure TCAP form. First administration is what calibrates these items.

Name: _____ Class / Period: _____ Date: _____

1. How did Brown v. Board affect the concept of "states' rights"? [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. It was the first state-supported high school in the South to integrate
- B. Southern states' organized efforts to defy school desegregation orders
- C. It established federal authority to enforce constitutional protections
- D. He unified the Court to deliver a unanimous decision against segregation

2. The immediate impact of Brown v. Board of Education in the South was best characterized by — [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Supreme Court enforcement through direct federal oversight of individual school districts
- B. Congressional action that forced immediate compliance through new federal legislation
- C. Rapid compliance as Southern states quickly desegregated their schools within two years
- D. Massive resistance — Southern states used legal obstruction, school closures, and intimidation to delay integration

3. Governor Orval Faubus's use of the Arkansas National Guard to block integration at Little Rock Central High School in 1957 represented which constitutional conflict? [US.78 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. State nullification of a federal court order in violation of the supremacy clause
- B. A dispute between the federal judiciary and Congress over school funding
- C. An application of the reserved powers doctrine under the Tenth Amendment
- D. A clash between the executive and legislative branches over education policy

4. How did Malcolm X's approach differ from Martin Luther King Jr.'s? [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Malcolm X supported gradual integration through the legal reform process
- B. Malcolm X organized nonviolent protests and marches in Northern cities
- C. Malcolm X partnered primarily with white liberal political organizations
- D. Malcolm X advocated for Black nationalism and armed self-defense rights

5. How did Thurgood Marshall's legal strategy differ from Malcolm X's activism? [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Marshall used courts while Malcolm X advocated nationalism
- B. Both relied primarily on grassroots community organizing
- C. Marshall supported separation while Malcolm X sought integration
- D. Both advocated armed resistance as a last resort strategy

6. Martin Luther King Jr.'s "Letter from Birmingham Jail" (1963) responded to white clergymen who called his protests "unwise and untimely." What was King's central argument about the relationship between law and justice? [US.79 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Bloody Sunday's televised violence shocked the nation and built overwhelming support for voting rights legislation
- B. One has a moral responsibility to disobey unjust laws, but must accept the legal consequences to demonstrate the injustice

- C. It banned discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin in public places and employment
- D. Images of police using dogs and fire hoses on protesters shocked the nation and built support for civil rights

7. What were sit-ins and how did they advance the civil rights movement? [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Protesters sat at segregated lunch counters until served, forcing businesses to desegregate
- B. Workers refusing to leave factories until employers granted desegregated workspaces
- C. Silent vigils held outside southern courthouses during civil rights trials
- D. Boycotts of department stores in the North to pressure southern affiliates

8. What was the March on Washington (1963) and why was it significant? [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. About 25,000 people gathered to demand immediate withdrawal from the Vietnam War
- B. Over 250,000 people gathered and King delivered his "I Have a Dream" speech
- C. A march of veterans demanding earlier payment of the World War II GI Bill bonus
- D. A women's suffrage parade that influenced the 19th Amendment's passage

9. The Montgomery Bus Boycott (1955–1956) was historically significant because it — [US.80 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Was the first civil rights protest to receive national television coverage in American history
- B. Led directly to the Supreme Court striking down all segregation laws in Southern states
- C. Demonstrated African American economic and organizational power — 40,000 riders sustained a 381-day boycott that ended bus segregation
- D. Resulted in Congress passing the first federal civil rights legislation since Reconstruction

10. Which provision of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 had the most significant long-term impact on employment discrimination? [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Title I, which banned voter registration discrimination
- B. Title VII, which prohibited employment discrimination and created the EEOC
- C. Title VI, which prohibited discrimination in federally assisted programs
- D. Title II, which desegregated public accommodations

11. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 was passed largely because of which political factor? [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Broad white Southern support for integration following the Birmingham Campaign's demonstration of Black determination
- B. A strong bipartisan Senate coalition in which a majority of Southern Democrats crossed the aisle to support the bill
- C. Johnson's mastery of Senate procedure and his use of Kennedy's memory to build the coalition that passed the bill
- D. A Supreme Court ruling in late 1963 that ordered Congress to pass comprehensive civil rights legislation within six months

12. After the Voting Rights Act of 1965, Black voter registration in the South increased dramatically. Which of the following best explains this change? [US.81 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. African Americans moved en masse from the North to Southern states to vote
- B. White Southerners voluntarily welcomed Black voters to polling places
- C. The Supreme Court ruled that all previous elections in the South were invalid

D. Federal examiners registered voters directly in counties where local officials refused

13. How did the feminist movement of the 1960s and 1970s draw on the civil rights movement to advance gender equality? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Feminist activists borrowed the civil rights movement's legal strategy and used it exclusively to challenge discrimination through the courts, avoiding direct action protests
- B. The feminist movement developed entirely independently of the civil rights movement, with different organizations, tactics, and ideological foundations
- C. Feminist activists applied civil rights frameworks of equality and dignity to gender discrimination, used Title VII to challenge workplace bias, and organized mass demonstrations modeled on civil rights protests
- D. Feminist activists focused their energy on supporting African American civil rights goals before turning to gender equality in the 1980s

14. How did women's experiences within the civil rights movement itself contribute to the rise of second-wave feminism in the 1960s? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Women in the civil rights movement were treated as equal partners in leadership, and their positive experiences inspired them to extend similar equality to other social movements
- B. Women left the civil rights movement after concluding that racial discrimination was less serious than gender discrimination and needed to be addressed first
- C. Female civil rights leaders formed the National Organization for Women directly from their work in SNCC, making the two organizations formally connected
- D. Women activists in SNCC and other organizations found that despite their contributions they were often excluded from leadership roles, which highlighted gender discrimination and inspired feminist organizing

15. How did the Chicano Movement's use of cultural identity — including the term 'Chicano,' the image of Aztlán, and muralism — serve a political as well as cultural purpose? [US.82 • DOK 2 • pre-field-test]

- A. Cultural affirmation built collective identity and pride, countering assimilationist pressures, and provided unifying symbols that sustained political mobilization and gave the movement a distinct voice
- B. Cultural expressions in the Chicano Movement were largely separate from its political goals, serving mainly as entertainment and community celebration
- C. Cultural identity claims in the Chicano Movement replaced political action after the failure of the farmworker strikes to achieve significant gains
- D. The Chicano Movement used cultural imagery primarily to appeal to white liberal allies who could not connect with labor and legal rights arguments

Part 4 — Teacher Answer Key + Item Analysis + Reteach

READING THE ANALYSIS

Each item shows its standard, DOK, correct key, and TCAP reporting category, plus a reteach move. Distractor-based routing: a wrong choice signals which idea to reteach — pair with the workbook Cornell notes and Guided Support. Classroom-formative • pre-field-test (pre-calibration) — not a secure TCAP form. First administration is what calibrates these items.
