

HIPP Source Analysis

The Homestead Act of 1862

HIPP helps you analyze a primary source. Look back at the reading and, for each part, write what you notice. We are analyzing the source — not writing an essay yet.

Name: _____ Class / Period: _____ Date: _____

Historical Context

Think about: When and where was this law written, and what was happening in the country at that time?

Sentence starter: This law was written in _____, during _____, when the country was _____.

Intended Audience

Think about: Who was this law written for? Who was supposed to read it or obey it?

Sentence starter: This law was meant for _____, because _____.

Point of View

Think about: Whose side does the law show? Whose point of view is left out?

Sentence starter: The law shows the point of view of _____. It leaves out _____.

Purpose

Think about: Why did the government create this law? What did it want to happen?

Sentence starter: The government made this law in order to _____.

Tip: use the Act's numbered Sections as your evidence — point to a Section (for example, "Section 5 shows ...") instead of copying long sentences.